

Are conferences for administrative professionals beneficial enough for you to go?

Question: "I think it would be interesting to attend one of the larger conferences for admins and office managers, but I'm sure it would involve some travel, missed time from work and the company footing the bill. Can anyone tell me if it's been worth it to them to dive in and make appearances at events like these?" - Thea, Legal Librarian

See comments below, and send your own question to Admin-Pro@nibm.net.